Reflections of the Week

In God’s eyes, the author of Wisdom says, the entire created universe is as a single grain, or a tiny drop of morning dew. A single speck of light in the night sky would seem to be a similar analogy. In the Gospel, Jesus refers to Zacchaeus as a descendant of Abraham, bringing to mind God’s promise to Abraham that his descendants would be as numerous as the stars in the sky. Zacchaeus, a corrupt tax collector, a collaborator with the Roman government, a known sinner, is one of those stars. Overlooked, if not scorned, he too is part of the innumerable points of light in the night sky, shining forth with the light of God’s mercy. As God loves all creation, what we may overlook as insignificant is never unimportant to God.

Luke tells us that Jesus “intended to pass through the town” of Jericho, implying that Jericho itself was an insignificant town on the way to Jerusalem, his ultimate destination (19:1). But when he sees Zacchaeus in the sycamore tree, he doesn’t just stop, he stays. Here is a lost sheep like the one the Good Shepherd pursued in the desert. Here is a penitent thief—not long before Jesus would meet another on the cross—promising to repay all that he had taken from anyone. Here is one of God’s children, a sinner, anxious to see Jesus, responding to Jesus with joy, and immediately expressing his contrition. Jesus encountered exactly the kind of person he came to save and so he found himself right at home.

Sometimes our ability to see the Lord is blocked and we struggle through life, losing our way, unaware that mercy and forgiveness are within reach. We are called to approach Jesus with humility and repentance, like Zacchaeus, or the tax collector in the temple in Jesus’ parable last Sunday. We have this opportunity today. Jesus is here today, here in this house of sinners, here to bring the good news of salvation, for “today salvation has come to this house . . . for the Son of Man has come to seek and to save what was lost” (Luke 19:9–10).

Question of the Week

If I were in Zacchaeus’s shoes and Jesus was coming to my home while others called me a sinner, what wrongs would I pledge to make right? What bold promises would I make?

Vote NO on Proposition 1

Proposition 1 would remove current reasonable limits on late-term abortion and enshrine an “abortion sanctuary” in California. Proposition 1 is unnecessary to protect women’s health or their reproductive freedom.

A “no” vote on Proposition 1 keeps existing California law on abortion the way it is now.

Recent polling shows there is much common ground among voters in California on the abortion issue. Most voters oppose taxpayer-funded abortions and support reasonable limits on late-term abortions. A full 70% of California voters believe human life begins at viability or conception.

Most California Voters Oppose Late-Term Abortions

A significant majority of California voters oppose late-term abortions and understand that there should be reasonable limits such as we have now. Prop 1 destroys these limits and will permit unrestricted abortion for any reason at any time — even up to the moment of birth. Most voters reject this.

Most California Voters Oppose Taxpayer-Funded Abortions

With California taxpayers already facing soaring inflation, sky-high gas prices, and unaffordable housing, most voters oppose taxpayer funding for abortions, especially to pay the expenses for abortion-seekers from other states. The Legislature has already increased abortion funding by $200 million this year. If Proposition 1 passes, analysts predict that the number of abortion-seekers from other states coming to California could increase by tens of thousands — meaning millions more dollars will be needed.

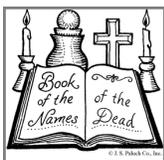

Most California Voters Believe in Reproductive Equity

Most California voters believe there should be parity and equal access to services for women seeking abortions and those who choose to be mothers. Prop 1 gives top funding priority to abortion seekers at the expense of families who struggle to pay for housing, groceries, gas, safe neighborhoods, healthcare and childcare.

Office of Faith Formation
COMMUNION OF SAINTS

Beautiful smiles from the Saints and saints-to-be First Communion Class.

The Church teaches that “the communion of saints is the Church” (CCC 946-962). “Saint” comes from the Latin “sanctus,” and refers to something or someone that has been “set apart,” that is “holy.” St. Paul calls Christians “saints” because he considered them being “set apart” and made holy by the grace of baptism. They are not like the rest of the world. In the world but not of the world. The Church upholds the saints in heaven with unique veneration. They are in God’s presence and are “partakers of the divine nature” (2 Pet 1:4). They have “run the race” and have been crowned (2 Tim 4: 7-8).

Glorious smiles from All Saints Celebration bringing together the saints-to-be from our RCIA class, parish staff, and catechists. We strive to win “mini crowns” here on earth with small acts of love, which often involves pain since it requires some self-giving (see the crown Jesus wears?) but not without hope as we look forward to our eternal crown in heaven. Thus, we focus on living and working for the Kingdom: “Thy kingdom come...on earth as it is in heaven” while relying on God’s grace to support us all the way.

All Saints and Angels, pray for us.
