Reflections of the Week

“Here is my servant,” the LORD says through Isaiah of a chosen one, a Messiah, a Christ, who would bring justice and healing to the nations (Isaiah 42:1). Isaiah writes again and again in these chapters of the Messiah as a servant, someone who would act at God’s behest in the world. In this way, Isaiah foresees the character of the Messiah. The Messiah would serve God’s will. Therefore, when Jesus insists on John baptizing him, he says it is “to fulfill all righteousness” (Matthew 3:15). Righteousness is moral conduct in accordance with God’s will. Jesus was sent by the Father to save humankind. This is the service he was called to do and, in turn, the service Jesus now calls us to do.

How do we do it? Jesus can be our model. Isaiah put it well when he wrote that the Messiah would bring justice, but not by shouting or violence, for he would not injure a bruised reed or extinguish a barely flickering flame. Jesus comes with tenderness and compassion. Moreover, he sticks to these ideals even when arousing the ire of the authorities (think of him forgiving the woman accused of adultery or healing the disabled man on the Sabbath). This is the example he left us to follow.

One more aspect of this tender loving care is asserted by Peter in the second reading: “God shows no partiality” (Acts 10:34). This allowed Peter to enter the house of Cornelius, a Roman centurion, without considering himself to be unclean. Moreover, Peter realized that the Holy Spirit had been poured out on those gathered there and so these Gentiles should be baptized and welcomed into the flock. He recalled that John the Baptist preached that Jesus would baptize not with water, but with the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit, poured out on us in baptism, now guides us as we live a Christian life. As we pursue justice tenderly and lovingly, we are called to not discriminate among those in need.

Question of the Week

This coming week, in what way can I be a servant of the Lord with tenderness and compassion?

2nd Collection for the Church in Africa/Latin America/Eastern Europe

This weekend, there will be a 2nd Collection for the CHURCH IN AFRICA/LATIN AMERICA/EASTERN EUROPE. Many unique challenges face the Churches in those regions. A lack of priests and trained lay ministers, high emigration rates, and the alarming pace at which parishioners are leaving the faith make it difficult for the region’s churches to provide for the faithful. It is more important than ever that we keep faith with the Churches in Africa, Latin America, and Eastern Europe.

Please be as generous as possible!

Eucharistic Adoration & Exposition

Every Thursday beginning at 9:00 am, St. Mary’s by the Sea is blessed to have Eucharistic Exposition (where the Blessed Sacrament is displayed outside the tabernacle in the monstrance for adoration by the faithful), and closing with Benediction (praying the rosary and receiving a blessing) at 3:00 pm.

Please stop by to visit with Jesus during these times!

WHY THE BAPTISM OF THE LORD IS A "CHRISTMAS" FEAST?

In the Roman Rite, the Baptism of the Lord has been celebrated as a separate feast for many centuries. Originally part of the January 6 Epiphany celebration, it was later assigned to the Epiphany octave (January 13) in 1955, and after the Second Vatican Council, moved to the Sunday following Epiphany.

Though it may seem unusual to still picture the baby Jesus in the manger while celebrating a moment from his adult life, both the Nativity and the Baptism of the Lord highlight Christ's humility. In each, Jesus reveals his desire to unite with us so that he may raise us up with him.

Pope Benedict XVI explains in his 2013 homily that Jesus demonstrates solidarity with our efforts to turn from sin and grow in holiness. His immersion in human life—fully experiencing our weaknesses and frailty—moves him to compassion. He chooses to "suffer with" us, to share in our penance, and to carry out the divine mission of healing and redemption.

By assuming human flesh at the Nativity and submitting to baptism by John, Jesus identifies with us completely, showing that even in our baptismal journey, he is with us, guiding us toward God the Father.

In his baptism, Jesus shows us the depth of God's love and humility. Though sinless, he submitted to John's water, fully embracing our human condition and inviting us into new life. His baptism calls us to turn from sin, grow closer to God, and follow him in love and service. Through this divine act, we are reminded that God walks with us, uplifts us, and invites us to share in his mission.

You are invited to reread today's Gospel and reflect on the message God has for you. Take a moment to sit with the words, let them sink in, and listen for how God is speaking to your heart today.

What is a Christian Steward?

"One who receives God's gifts gratefully, cherishes and tends them in a responsible and accountable manner, shares them in justice and love with others, and returns them with increase to the Lord."

(American Bishops Pastoral Letter).

Have You Made a "Visit" to the Blessed Sacrament Lately?

Visits to the Blessed Sacrament - to God really living in our Churches - should be as regular in the life of a Catholic as eating. This is true particularly of the tens of thousands who live within walking distance of the Church - and God! Regular at least daily visits to God in His Church home is a sure sign of living faith. It is hard, on the other hand, to understand the "brand" of faith of one who claims belief in Christ's Real Presence among us but fails to prove that faith by corresponding actions, one of which is the most natural human trait - visiting of a friend, one we love.

For those who are not in this thoroughly Catholic habit, there is no time like now - pre-Lent - to start (since Ash Wednesday is on Feb. 18th this year!)
